DEFENSE POW/MIA ACCOUNTING AGENCY
FULFILLING OUR NATION'S PROMISE

Airman Accounted For From World War II (McNeill, L.)

/ Published July 21, 2026

WASHINGTON, The Defense POW/MIA Accounting Agency announced today that U.S. Army Air Forces Sgt. Leonard J. McNeill, 27, of Orlando, Florida, who died as a prisoner of war during World War II, was accounted for on Oct. 9, 2025.

McNeill's family recently received their full briefing on his identification, therefore, additional details on his identification can be shared.

In the spring of 1945, McNeill served as a tail gunner aboard a Boeing B-29 "Superfortress" bomber assigned to 881st Bombardment Squadron, 500th Bombardment Group (Very Heavy). In early April, during a bombing mission against the Nakajima Aircraft Engine Plant in Musashino City, Japan, the aircraft crashed. The circumstances leading to the crash are unclear. However, the unit's records indicate that aircrews on the same mission witnessed one plane explode near the target area before falling to the ground. McNeill survived the crash but was held as a prisoner of war. He perished in the Tokyo Military Prison during a fire on May 26, 1945.

Following the end of the war, the American Graves Registration Service was tasked with investigating and recovering missing American personnel in the Pacific Theater. Although the AGRS recovered 65 sets of remains from the Tokyo Military Prison, they were unable to identify any as McNeill. At the end of AGRS identification efforts, U.S. forces interred 39 Unknowns associated with the Tokyo Military Prison in Fort McKinley Cemetery, now the Manila American Cemetery and Memorial in Manila, Republic of the Philippines.

In March and April 2022, DPAA exhumed the 39 Unknowns associated with the Tokyo Prison Fire for comparison to associated casualties, including McNeill, and accessioned them into the DPAA laboratory for analysis.

To identify McNeill's remains, scientists from DPAA used anthropological analysis and circumstantial evidence. Additionally, scientists from the Armed Forces Medical Examiner System used mitochondrial DNA analysis, mitochondrial genome sequencing data, and nuclear single nucleotide polymorphism testing.

McNeill's name is recorded on the Courts of the Missing at the National Cemetery of the Pacific, an American Battle Monuments Commission site in Honolulu, along with the others missing from WWII. A rosette will be placed next to his name to indicate he has been accounted for.

McNeill will be buried Nov. 11, 2026, in his hometown.

For family and funeral information, call the Army Casualty Office at (800) 892-2490.

For additional information on the Defense Department's mission to account for Americans who went missing while serving their country, visit the DPAA website at www.dpaa.mil or on social media

Motorcyclists honor soldiers killed in Iraq

By Lon Medd
DAILY PRESS & ARGUS

Brighton resident Norman Christiansen said his brother is probably looking down from heaven and saying "thank you."

His brother was Army Staff Sgt. Thomas Christiansen, 42, a former Brighton resident, who died in Iraq in December 2003.

On Saturday, members of the Rolling Thunder Michigan Chapter 5, a veterans support group, paid tribute to the four men from Livingston County who fought and died in the Iraq war with a memorial motorcycle ride from the American Spirit Centre in Brighton Township along Grand River Avenue to the historical Livingston County Courthouse in downtown Howell.

"The only word I can think of is gratitude," said Norman Christiansen about the memorial service. "These men made the ultimate sacrifice, and it's important that people recognize them for their service."

Thomas Christiansen, along with Army Pfc. Jason Meyer, Marine Lance Cpl. Michael Wayne Hanks, and Army Staff Sgt. Paul "PJ" Johnson, were honored for their service to their country.

The ceremony at the courthouse included remarks from Rolling Thunder Chapter President Ray Tovar, the singing of the "Star-Spangled Banner," an invocation from V.F.W. Post 4357 Chaplain Max Fabisiak, and the Pledge of Allegiance from Sgt. Norbert Buko.

Tovar said Livingston County will never forget its fallen heroes.

"The memory of them goes on," he said.

"These men made the ultimate sacrifice, and it's important that people recognize them for their service."

know we support them," he said. "Right now I have tears of joy and tears of sadness."

The original date of the memorial service was snowed out a couple of weeks ago. Despite a change of plans, more than 100 motorcycles took part in the ride. Bikes were escorted by police officers from Howell and Brighton, the Livingston County Sheriff's Department and the Michigan State Police.

Rolling Thunder events chairman Les Prieskorn said it was important to not only honor the troops, but their families as well.

"There was a time when Livingston County used to be just a little community, and when one person grieves, everyone grieves," he said.

Jeff Grandsen, Rolling Thunder chapter chairman, said it's important not to forget these men.

"I do fear as time goes on, they will be forgotten," he said.

Escorted by police and sheriff's patrol units, more than 100 motorcyclists participated in the Rolling Thunder's Ride To Remember Saturday. Above, the procession travels west on Grand River Avenue toward downtown Brighton. Top: As ceremonies conclude at the historical Livingston County Courthouse in Howell, bikers such as Tom Fountain, right, approached and hugged Michael Hanks, left, father of Marine Lance Cpl. Michael Wayne Hanks, who was killed in Fallujah, Iraq.

Speakers included Sgt. First Class William Merrow, who read "Who am I," about the American spirit — "it will not be broken."

Stuart Pigler, a representative from U.S. Rep. Mike Rogers' office, County Commissioner Dave Domas, and Livingston County Sheriff Bob Bezotte also spoke to the crowd.

This was also the chance for surviving family members to address the crowd. Michael Hanks, whose son, Michael Wayne Hanks, was killed by enemy fire outside Fallujah, Iraq, on Nov. 17, said to the crowd that "it's good to remember, and it's important to remember."

Kathy Meyer thanked the crowd for coming. Her son became the first Livingston County casualty in the Iraq conflict when he was killed in April 2003.

Norman Christiansen said it's wonderful that Rolling Thunder was able to get together to do this kind of event. He said the last conversation he had with his brother was to tell him to be careful, watch himself, do his job and serve his country.

"We have to let the troops
